CLASSIFY SOUTHERN NEVADA'S FLORA

It is suggested by the Bonanza that there be a classification made this spring of the flora and fauna of Southern Nevada. Such a work might profitably employ botanists and zoologists of the University of Nevada and be extremely helpful to this region. The season is an ideal one. The precipitation has been heavy and the cultural processes have been aided by the high winds. The fauna are easy of classification, because they are few in number and largely indigenous, but as to the flora, that will prove not only an interesting, but a difficult task, one that will require well founding in botany and necessitate close and careful research.

There seems to be a preconception in the outside world that the hills and valleys of this region are barren of vegetation, except for the omnipresent sage. Artists who illustrate Southern Nevada stories are prone to embellish their scenes with cacti and Joshua's, but as a matter of fact, the Yucca palm district does not begin until a point fifteen miles south of Tonopah is reached, while the cactus, spanish dagger and other spined plants are very rare here. Instead are the multiplicity of flowers, all possessed of brilliant coloring and some of delicious perfume. They bloom, it is true, for but a brief period, but during that time they are luxuriant, and will be especially so this spring, when all conditions favor. It would be well to have them thoroughly studied and classified. The state university should undertake this task. It may seem but a poetic notion, but there is a plenitude of practicality behind it. One of the benefits to be obtained would be the disillusioning of the outside world, which has been taught to believe that Tonopah is situated in the center of a barren desert. The profligacy of nature in its diversity of plant life here is well worthy of attention and, as the seasons are changing and precipitation is on the increase, there are splendid opportunities for soil tillage arising, particularly since the search for artesian water for irrigation is receiving both state and national aid.

FREAK BILLS IN VARIOUS STATES

EVERY year sees the introduction of freak bills into the legislatures of one or more states, but the spring of 1915 seems to have capped the climax. The freak legislators have run mad. Hardly a state has escaped. Here are a few, culled from one day's exchanges:

To prohibit the catching of frogs. To prohibit the use of face powder, rouge, hair dye or bleach, the piercing of the ears and the wearing of earrings. Kansas. To compel chickens to go to roost before 7 p. m. To provide that bulls being driven along the road at night shall wear headlights. Nevada. Providing that all weeds and plants which cause hay fever shall be removed from the roadsides. Bachelors to pay an annual tax of $5 per head. Prohibiting the wearing of whiskers by doctors and dentists. Massachusetts. Compelling the national guard to do ninety days' work each year on the roads and bridges of the state. Requiring dealers in stock foods to pay an annual license of $25 a year. Prohibiting free lunches. Nebraska. Compelling churchgoers to leave their firearms outside. Texas. Prohibiting treating; prohibiting the giving of tips to barbers, porters, waiters, hat snatchers, etc. Taxing bachelors of 30 years of age, $50 per annum; licensing cats $1 per head per annum. Illinois. To furnish lumber jacks with individual bath tubs. Minnesota. Establishing a uniform thickness of sleigh runners. North Dakota. Prohibiting a man from becoming a ball "dodger," i. e., allowing persons to throw baseballs at one's head for hire. New York. Limiting each resident of the state to one gallon of "corn liquor" a month. South Carolina. Prohibiting the smoking of cigarettes by school, normal and university instructors. Wisconsin. Prohibiting the publication of liquor advertisements in the newspapers of the state and calling for the destruction of all such advertisements in papers printed outside of the state before such papers are sold. Alabama.

A CAMP BUILT FOR PERMANENCY

TO the west, to the north, to the east, the ore zone of Tonopah has been extended laterally and lineally during the past few weeks and beyond the proven deposits there have been discovered non-corroliating ledges which may later develop lenses of ore. Tonopah is a district that cannot be worked out in decades. It contains an intricate vein system of mineralized and non-mineralized fissures and the former seem to have but one limitation, that upwards from the surface, or rather from the contact with the cupping. That is why people are investing heavily in real estate and business ventures here, which they would not do if a brief limitation were placed on the life of the camp. There are mines that have been worked for centuries and are still being profitably developed. Tonopah's vein system promises to be included in this class.

NIGHTMARE OR PREMONITION?

AT midnight in his guarded tent the Turk lay dreaming of the hour when Dardanelles and Bosphorus would lose their lordly power, when Maid of Athens would lament the swain from Istanbul, who joined the allies in attack and broke the sultan's rule. An hour passed on, the Turk awoke, his harem far had fled, the Golden Horn had blown retreat. Then he went back to bed.

Let us call Goodwin's Weekly a paradox. It is written remarkably and wrapped rottenly. Its columns exude erudition and its paste the tendency toward profanity. It is rightfully edited and wrongfully deviled. It would be a pleasure to receive it with smooth columns and un-dog-eared pages. The delight of perusing the judge's philosophy and Tod's phraseology is diminished by fussing over the blamed thing until one is able to lean back, light cigarette and enjoy the contents.

If every Prussian soldier could fight like Harry Thaw there would be some excuse for the kaiser defying the world.

FRESH Drugs that are emphatic in their DRUGS purpose of curing ills

Confidence is the main-spring of established trade. It is built up by selling customers the things they want, and being sure that they get what they think they're getting.

Fresh drugs never carry a superficial demeanor. Fresh drugs act true, and in this one fact alone there is a boundless satisfaction and a sense of security.

Be sure—bring your prescription here—so that the medicine, when taken, will act true.

CRAWLS UNDER WIRE FENCE AND EXPLODES A GERMAN MINE

(By Associated Press.)

ROTTERDAM, March 30.—Brussels' supply of English newspapers, which have to be smuggled across the border on account of the German prohibition against their importation, has been curtailed by the violent death of a daring Belgian who had for many weeks brought in 200 copies a day. He had made friends with a Bavarian sentry who, it is said, for a consideration closed his eyes to the armful of papers which the Belgian carried. A few days ago, however, the sentries were changed, and the Belgian was unable to persuade the Wurttemberg guard to let him pass. Waiting until nightfall, the newspaper man crawled under the barb wire defense, and in so doing exploded a mine, which literally blew him to pieces.

SPAIN IS SADLY IN NEED OF GRAIN

WILL PURCHASE LARGE CAR-GOES WHEAT AND OATS FROM AMERICA

(By Associated Press.)

MADRID, March 30.—The Spanish government is taking steps to secure an adequate supply of grain until the next harvest. Its procedure will be similar to that which other countries have been obliged to adopt. It will take over a number of Spanish owned vessels, and use them to convey cargoes of wheat and oats from the United States to Spanish ports, principally Barcelona.

Rates of freight by ship to Spanish ports have increased in consonance with those of neighboring countries. The increase has in fact been rather more pronounced than to some French ports. For example, it is nearly ten per cent cheaper to ship grain from the United States to Marseilles than to Barcelona, because ship owners give a preference to cargoes destined to Marseilles, where they are fairly certain of being able to unload without delay.
